WANTS SUPPORT IN RELIEVING CONTROVERSY

Non-Partisan Conference on Wednesday Night to Study Situation

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Speaker Ruggles today said he was gratified that President Hoover had indicated his proposal to take the burden of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and to provide additional funds for projects to provide employment.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Washington, May 23 (AP)—

The embroiled Congress returned haltingly to its task today, while President Hoover prepared for a non-partisan conference with newspaper publishers Wednesday night to rouse public support for quick and effective disposition of the economic controversies.

Thirty publishers will attend. It was said at the White House that only "co-operative community plans" would be discussed. There was authoritative word also that the resident aims to seek support in shaping public opinion to aid in overcoming economic strain and in solving the related legislative problems.

There was no sign of a break in the Senate deadlock over tariffs in the tax bill. "Administration plans on relief came to the fore in a bill by Senator Burdett of New Jersey for a $10,000,000 reinforcement of the Reconstruction Corp. for loans to construct self-sufficient projects.

NON-PARTISAN LINES. The legislators studied the President's objections to proposals for bond issues to finance public works, as he detailed them yesterday in a letter to Herbert S. Crocker, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

At the White House, meanwhile, the Hoover views on this as well as the economic and legislative situations in general, were rehearsed for presentation to the publishers.

Those invited to the meeting were not named, but it was expected that the publishers would be represented in the discussions.

LIVE NEAR CAPITAL. It was understood, however, that a majority of those invited live within a convenient distance of the national capital.

In the view of the President, the conference will be along the same line as previous he has held with representatives of other industries and professions.

SWEATSHOPS ARE ASSAILED

Declaring the sweatshop to be a serious menace to the livelihood of the American workman and his family, the Consumers' League of Massachusetts sent a letter of commendation today to P. A. O'Connell, president of the E. I. Slatery Co., for his stand against sweatshop exploitation.

"As you indicated," the letter said, "sweatshops goads are never quality goods and are not the sort of merchandise a shop like Slatery's ever carry."

"We like to feel that your statement indicates the policy to be followed, not only in the great store of which you are president, but also in all the member stores of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, of which you are also president."

ave, also obtained a good look at the fleeing man. Like the others, he said one of the men was exceptionally good looking. All were neatly dressed. Police of Brighton station and the bank squad and flying squad of the police headquarters were dispatched to the scene. Police also flashed word of the hold attempt over the police teletype to check all roads of the type reported, regardless of registration numbers.

A citizen alarm, sounded by Bain, started the chase, brought Patrolmen Swanson and Stelfox of the Brighton station to the scene in a few minutes.

It also brought Capt. John A. McGrath, Special Officers Elmer Hanchel and Arthur Zernan of Brighton, and Capt. John M. Anderson with the squad from headquarters.

The same band, according to descriptions, held up the branch store of McGrath and William Kelley store manager, retired to a table at the rear of the depot where the men suddenly confronted them with guns.

$15,000 'DEBT' TO WALKER IN SECRET FEE

Seabury Probe Shows Three Payments to N. Y. Mayor by a Theater Man

New York, May 23 (AP)—Abram H. Schwarz, a theater man who says he owed James J. Walker $15,000 for "special legal services" when Walker left the state senate and his law firm to become mayor of New York, stepped today into the center of the last open hearing of the Hofstadter committee before the mayor takes the stand.

Schwarz, who refused to sign a waiver of immunity, said that in 1928 Mayor Walker in his office in City Hall told him to take up with Russell T. Sherwood, the mayor's former accountant and agent, the matter of the debt. He quoted the mayor as saying:

"I'm the mayor of New York now. You take the matter up with Sherwood. He's the old accountant. He transacts all the business."

Schwarz testified he paid Walker for services the nature of which he declined to state on the stand, $2000 in 1928 and $1000 in 1929, and in 1928 and a check for $3975.00 in 1929.

After discussing the $2000 check with the law firm, the sharp reproach Seabury asked Schwarz if that amount, $2000, represented full payment for the debt to Walker. Schwarz said it did not.

He also refused to say in the Senate Hofstadter at the private hearing that the $2000 was a present full payment.

"I don't," Schwarz replied. Schwarz insisted he did not remember having said the $2000 represented payment in full and said that in 1929, at the request of Sherwood, who said he still owed Walker's law firm money, he sent a check for $3975.00.

SENATE WRAP-UP AT 'PEACE' PLEA

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The apex signed by Alfred E. Smith and 10 other nationally prominent men for non-partisan congressional action in the balancing of the budget drew the sharp rejoinder from Senate leaders today that policies have been laid aside by Congress on this issue.

Addressing the Senate, Watson and Robinson, the Republican and Democratic leaders respectively, declared Congress merited praise for its non-partisan attitude instead of criticism for failing to act that way.

Watson asserted the Democrats had submerged politics in the interest of a national welfare program and accused the petitioners of indulging in "propaganda against Congress."

"If these men knew, and they should know," he declared, "the kind of criticism they would be praising is for the progress we have made and for the understanding in which we have met the problem."

in view of Draxler's complaint that the State might have to wait two or three years to get its share back, one has heard of the State's obligation to the public utility companies.

State, the bill, it was explained by Tax Commissioner Henry P. Long, calls for the levying of a special levy on the taxpayers. If the amounts collected by the State for the city were insufficient to meet the obligation, the State would have to make good the difference.

Beck estimated that the payment this year for public utilities would amount to about $600,000, which will mean about a 10-cent tax rate.

"I can't get out of it," he said, "what will happen," he warned the committee.

Long said that the conditions under the present law could go on indefinitely for some of the companies.

It would get to a point where the state would have to take over the public utility companies," he concluded.

Top. William J. Stevens of Hampden, member of the committee asked Long if it wouldn't be better in the long run if the State was forced to go through the process of taxation.

Stevens replied that he could "see some advantages" in a finance commission for Chelsea.

Edwin S. Cunningham, United States consul general, said postal clerks from American trans-Pacific steamers had been ordered ashore and navy men here may be called on to assist.

Village Blacksmith Stages Comeback in Mid-West

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—The village blacksmith is staging a comeback.

Blacksmiths, who three years ago were ready to take up other lines of work, are doing a brisk business now in repairing farm machinery.

Wholesalers and officials of mail order houses said sales to Midwest farmers of harness, machinery, repair parts and kindred equipment attachments for the first five months of the year would exceed those of any period in recent years.

FORGIVES MATE IN TRY TO KILL

Arm in arm with her renegade husband, Mrs. Ellen McTigue of Washington st., Lynn, accompanied him to Lynn court today and refused to testify against him for attempting to kill her with a razor.

At the courtroom door Mrs. McTigue halted and said:

"You go right in, Charles, and I'll be waiting for you."

She then turned back, went in, pleaded not guilty to assault with intent to kill, and Judge Ralph W. Reed continued the case in June 1. Released under bonds, McTigue hurried to the corridor where he found his wife waiting, and again, arm-in-arm, the couple departed.

McTigue told police that he made the attempt Saturday night when his wife failed to meet him at his place of business and he found her in a restaurant with two men. He said they were alone, home and "something snapped in his head" which made him attempt to kill her. Her protestations that she loved him stopped him, he said.

Crop Forecaster in Chicago Revealed as Woman

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—For some time speculators in Chicago's financial district have been talking about "that man Miller," the crop forecaster.

But they've been mistaken. "That man Miller" is a woman—one of the few in the United States engaged in the profession.

Her reports have been signed "E. H. Miller" and they sounded masculine enough until a newspaper discovered today that the "E" stands for Ellen, and that she's red-headed.

The "look" of her trade are some 3000 reports from 3000 grain dealers and 2000 cotton ginners, received each month to form the basis of her forecasts.

AMORY FIGHTS FREIGHT RATE

Washington, May 23—Freight rates on shipments of cotton and mixed cotton and wool blankets are now one of the greatest factors in the textile industry.

From New England plants to Boston mills, Robert Amory, treasurer of the National Mfg. Co., Nashua, N. H., told the Interstate Commerce Commission at the conclusion of the freight rate hearing today.

Using that this "handicap" is eliminated through equalization of freight charges from New England mill points to the West and from Southern mill centers to the West, Amory pointed out that production at the Nashua plant, largest blanket mill in the world, has declined about 40 per cent since 1927.

THIEF SUSPECTS LOSE BOAT RACE

Three youths rowing in a dory are no match for one man in a motorboat, which was proved today at Marblehead when the three youths, following a chase of four miles over the sparkling seas, were overtaken and caught on a charge of breaking and entering.

They were Albert Smith, Francis Conroy and Maury Derogations, all of Salem, and their alleged burglary was at the Home for Crippled Children on Baker's Island.

Little Church creekboat, was returning to the island in the motorboat when he saw the three youths in the dory. When they tried to stop on his heels, he went after them, making the capture and towing them to Marblehead.

In the dory were a pair of pieces of silverware which claimed brought to the home.

Garbo Spurns $12,500 Pay to Return in June to Sweden

Hollywood, May 23—They can tell all they like about a new $12,500-a-week contract and an enviable settlement, but Greta Garbo is going home. The great Swede has planned definitely to sail from New York for her native Sweden on June 4.

The word about these parts is that she and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer are all washed up, but this cannot be confirmed, as the satraps are expecting nothing, and Garbo never does. However, they are preparing to bill her latest picture "As You Desire Me" as Garbo's farewell.

They are saying she won't desert the screen entirely, but will turn her non-company around and make pictures in Sweden. Apocryphal this, Harry Edington, her personal representative, said for the home of prime soup recently. He would say nothing about his plans except that he was to "make preliminary arrangements" for Miss Garbo.

ROMANCE APPARENTLY OFF

There have been rumors of a romance before this that the Nordic beauty would give up Hollywood but all were denied. The story that attained the most prominence was that she intended to retire and become the bride of Wilhelm Cederstrom, son of a wealthy Swedish financier and close friend of Prince Sigvard, second son of the Crown Prince.

This appears to be off. The real truth seems to be that Garbo is just plain homesick.

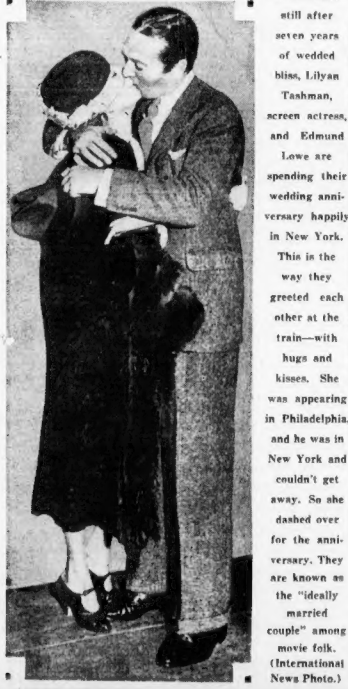

As recently as April 15 it was given out that Garbo wasn't going home, that she had had her immigration permit renewed for another six months and that a new contract to top everything in the way of movie salaries was in the making.

TOSES $12,500 OVERBOARD

Last Thursday it was reported everything had been settled. The Nordic actress, her $10,000 a week and she asked $12,500. The reports emanating from the inner sanctum were that a compromise had been effected and the great Swede was to resume her choice for a weekly pay envelope of $12,500.

That she is prepared to toss this overboard seems to indicate she was not so badly clipped by purchase of stocks in the late War Devco's match companies as reports had it.

AND WEDDED 7 YEARS, TOO!

Sweethearts still after seven years of wedded bliss, Lillian Tashman, screen actress, and Edmund Lowe are spending their wedding anniversary happily in New York.

This is the way they greeted each other at the train—with hugs and kisses. She was appearing in Philadelphia, and he was in New York and couldn't get away. So she dashed over for the anniversary. They are known as the "ideally married couple" among movie folk. (International News Photo.)

Death Car Driver Held in $10,000

Charged with drunkenness and manslaughter after a companion was killed in the automobile which crashed into a telephone pole yesterday, John P. Kersch, 27, of Downer ave., Dorchester, was held in $10,000 today in Quincy court.

Kersch pleaded not guilty and his case was continued to June 5.

Police say Kersch drove the automobile in which Joseph F. Foley, 30, of Blue Hill ave., was killed in Blue Hill ave. Milton.

Joseph Coffey, 28, another occupant of the car, is in a critical condition in Milton Hospital.

Dry Agents Seize Bootleggers' List

A list of names of alleged bootleggers connecting speak-easies in Roxbury, South Boston and the South End was among the records seized by dry agents in the Liberty Hotel, Washington st., it was testified in federal court today.

Included in the seizure were large quantities of liquor.

Don Curran of Roxbury st., East Boston, Leslie L. England of Allston and Max Lande of Wattle st., Chelsea, were held in a total of $2000 for a hearing June 2. They were arrested after the raid.

'Nail Eater' Jailed for Cafe Frauds

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—Gerald Bodine's nail-eating days are over—at least for a little while.

He asked damages from a restaurant, claiming a nail had been served with his food but police revealed he had collected $30 in other cities by alleging similar mishaps, so a judge sentenced him to six months in the House of Correction.

The order was issued on motion of James M. Carson, attorney for Capt. W. N. Lancaster, former British army aviator, held on a charge of murdering Clarke.

LADY GREGORY OF STAGE FAME DIES IN BELFAST

Belfast, Ireland, May 23 (AP)—Lady Gregory, Irish dramatist and a director of the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, died today.

She was the widow of Sir William Gregory, former governor of Ceylon, who died in 1902, and was one of the best known women writers in Ireland.

Lady Gregory shared with William Butler Yeats the honor of starting the movement for an Irish national literature. Previous to her interest in Yeats, Lady Gregory had had a passionate devotion to the old Gaelic legends and the Gaelic revival in general. She had made numerous translations of the folk tales of Ireland, and from these inspired much of the "Toll" spirit.

In 1890 she met Yeats for the first time, and a chance conversation led to the attempt to establish a movement for the preservation of Irish literature.

In 1904 she accompanied the Abbey Theatre to Boston, on their American tour and several of her comedies were among those produced.

Lady Gregory was well known in the United States. She made frequent trips to America, where she lectured on Irish plays. In 1921 she headed a delegation of five prominent Irish women before an appeal to the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding for financial relief for Irish women and children.

Attempt to Find Fur Ship Given Up

Nome, Alaska, May 23 (AP)—Attempts to find the abandoned ship Baychimo and the salvaging of a sick fur cargo believed to be aboard have been given up by William R. Graham and Mrs. Edna Christofferson.

On their return here Sunday after an aerial search, Mrs. Christofferson said she planned to return to her home in Portland, Ore.

LITCHFIELD IS FOR SALES TAX

Los Angeles, May 23—What is keeping prosperity from the grasp of the American people?

Paul W. Litchfield of Akron, O., president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corp., gave his answer today.

"The whole trouble lies in Washington. Business was on the verge of improvement when the tax bill, endorsed by both parties, was thrown out by the House by insurgents, who substituted income and unwise proposals.

"We cannot hope for a return of prosperity until the original bill, with its general sales tax, is passed."

"William Randolph Hearst has sponsored and advocated this sales tax as a safe and sane route for Washington to take in its dilemma. Mr. Hearst has done a great deal of good for his country and business in advocating this sales tax."

HAWLEY LOSING IN OREGON

Portland, Ore., May 23 (AP)—Rep. Willis C. Hawley, veteran Oregon Republican Congressman, apparently has failed of renomination.

With only a few scattered precincts unreported today, it was 600 votes behind James W. Mott, state corporation commissioner.

Hawley has represented Oregon in Congress 20 years.

The vote, nearly complete, was Mott 30,000 and Hawley 29,572.

Walter R. Glasgow apparently won the only other close race and the right to oppose Frederick W. Steiwer, Republican incumbent, in the November senatorial race.

Oregon's 13 votes in the Republican national convention were pledged by preferential vote to Joseph Irwin France, former senator from Maryland, only candidate on the party's presidential ticket.

Gov. Roosevelt of New York easily obtained the 16 Democratic votes, polling 4 to 1 against Gov. Murray of Oklahoma.

More than 12,000 wrote in President Hoover's name but France polled more than 60,000 votes.

ASK PROSPERITY LOAN ACTION

A resolution describing the William Randolph Hearst proposed $5,000,000 Prosperity Loan as "the only constructive plan that has been advanced for the relief of the nation" was introduced today in the City Council by Councilman Green of Chelmsford.

President Gallagher referred the resolution to the committee on rules, to be acted upon at the next meeting, June 6. The resolution reads:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the Boston City Council that the only constructive plan that has been advanced for the relief of the nation from its present financial and unemployment crisis is the $5,000,000 Prosperity Loan proposed by the Hon. William Randolph Hearst."

"And it is further resolved, that the Boston City Council endorses this plan and recommends its enactment into legislation by the Congress of the United States."

"Ordered, that copies of this resolution be sent to each United States senator and representative in Congress from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

BONUS BACKERS REACH CAPITAL

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Groups of "pay the bonus now" advocates from several states concentrated today on Capitol plaza for a demonstration they understood would take place.

They straggled into the Capitol grounds in groups of fives and tens in automobiles. Their leaders had not arrived and they were uncertain of their future plans.

They claimed to represent organized veterans in Oregon, California, Pennsylvania and Alabama. One of them, Eugene Trudel of Los Angeles, said another group of several hundred, who had commandeered a Baltimore & Ohio freight train, were expected in Washington tonight or tomorrow.

Trudel said he and four other men representing 50,000 California veterans had driven from Los Angeles to the capital on 20 cars.

People along the line were mightily good to see," he said. "They gave us gas, oil, tires, food and, and repaired our machine when it broke down."

No one seemed sure as to when the demonstration, if any, was supposed to take place.

FIVE BILLION IDEA EXCITES THE 'POL'S'

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright 1932 by Universal Service
San Francisco, May 22 (AP)—Gov. Murray, secretary, after a long day's hearing them running to cover, the political bosses.

What—five billion dollars for the poor—what's the idea?

Who's going to be better off but a lot of nobodies, that have nothing to lose anyhow.

Oh, yes, they can vote—but they won't—they'll stay at home and stare—hungry men and women have much more energy left for political meetings, and the good, sharp, feel-the-ground boys will attend to the political—usual.

Five billion—just to give work to the hungry men and women, hard-working women, who would give ten years of their lives for an honest job at any kind of half decent pay. Tut, tut—what a lot of sentimental rubbish.

Don't throw out the plan altogether—just kill it by going halfway with it.

Now is the time to break the chauffeur boss rule and party politics and petty local personal ambition and greed, get only for money but for romance.

Courage Prime Need of Next President, Says Murray

New York, May 22 (AP)—Gov. William R. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma says there's one thing the next President will need plenty of, and that's courage.

"Standing around" his hotel room yesterday, the rankly governor chewed a cigar and told newspapermen who he entered the presidential race.

"I personally don't care for the responsibility," he said, "but I'm running for the same reason that I ran for governor down in Oklahoma. There were seven other candidates in the race, and not one of 'em knew what it was all about. So I ran, and I won."

"The trouble is, no man can escape the people who elect him, the politicians and the people who gave him the money to make the race. He's got to stay with them; he can't escape. But the next President's got to be able to do it. He's got to have his hands untied, tell them all to go to Arkansas or a better corner."

Referring to Governor Roosevelt, he said:

"The Roosevelt people think the people out West are too really fooled. He removed a sheriff or something, didn't he, and it didn't even cause a breeze. They are more interested in what a man is going to do for them."

He said he was "not thinking."

CLUE TO LOST TEACHER FOUND

St. Johnsbury, Vt., May 23 (AP)—The search for Mrs. Dix Worthen, who disappeared Feb. 12 while attending a parent-teachers' meeting today, centered around two unknown men reported near the Worthen home that night.

Police said Walter Hunter, neighbor of Mrs. Worthen, saw two men standing on a pile of discarded auto bodies on the bank of the Passumpsic river back of the Worthen home. Hunter told officers the barking of his dog roused him and he saw the men as he looked from his bedroom window.

A search was being made for the men.

1 IN EVERY 2400 JAILED BY U. S.

Washington, May 23 (AP)—One person of every 2400 in the United States is a federal prisoner, either on probation, parole or in confinement.

In a review of the penal system today, Senator Bates, undisputed leader of federal prisons, disclosed that there are 49,000 federal prisoners. A total of 20,000 are now on probation, 32,000 on parole, 12,000 in county jails or local institutions and 12,000 in federal penitentiaries, reformatories and camps.

More than half the prisoners confined on federal convictions were sentenced for violations of the prohibition, auto theft and narcotic acts.

In 1910 there were only 3,000 prisoners. By 1918, just prior to the effective date of the prohibition law, the figure had increased to only 3,000, while the gain to the end of 1931 was about 460 per cent.

Priest Climbs Huge Volcano; Crawls Last Few Feet

Fair Pass, Alaska, May 23 (AP)—An ascent of Mount Shishaldin, an active volcano, by Father Bernard R. Hubbard, Santa Clara University professor, and two companions was described by the "Glasgow Press" as the "hardest mountain climbing he had ever tackled."

Returning here after a climb which many Alaskans had declared to be extremely difficult or impossible, Father Hubbard said great hardships had been overcome. The ascent of the 9,000-foot cone was made a week ago, with 21 hours sleeping before the return to the base camp.

The cone, in violent eruption in February, still was emitting ash and lava. Father Hubbard said:

"On the last 3000 feet of the ascent" Father Hubbard said, "I found the hardest going of any mountain climbing I have ever tackled."

"We were over an hour making the last hundred feet to the summit, from which billowing clouds of escaping smoke and gases poured forth."

"The lower slacks were lying at a 30 or 60 degree angle and would give way, and we would slide back. Even ice picks would not take hold. Finally crawling and scrambling, we reached the edge."

'MERCY SLAYER' GETS 3 MONTHS

Copenhagen, May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Elsa Wille Bang, defendant in Denmark's famous "mercy slaying," was convicted today on a modified charge of assisting her mother to commit suicide by administering an overdose of medicine. She was sentenced to three months in prison.

The conviction closed the case, which a subject of widespread controversy, in which the "right to kill" was discussed.

Mrs. Bang's mother, Baroness von Duesen, died late in November. Her daughter was charged with murder on her confession that she administered narcotics to end her mother's sufferings from an incurable disease.

Her mother did not know she was "drinking death," the daughter testified, although the baroness, she said, had expressed a wish to die.
